MATTRESS CARE AND MAINTAINCE INSTRUCTIONS

Proper maintenance of the mattress is as important as its selection. By following the instructions of elite strom® (authorized manufacturer and exclusive distributor of Sealy® products in Greece), you will be able to enjoy a healthy and restful sleep for a long time.

Please note that the information on the terms of the warranty is provided for your information only and does not constitute proof of purchase.

PLACEMENT OF THE MATTRESS

A proper bed base ensures good mattress performance and optimizes the warranty options. In case you haven't already bought an anatomic frame or bed from elite strom®, you should pay attention to the following:

- The mattress shouldn't lie on a solid surface made from wood or by-products of wood (chipboard, particleboard, MDF, etc. nor on a built-in base). Bases like that do not allow proper ventilation and increase the risk of mold growth.

- The mattress should NOT lie on an anatomic bed frame whose slats are recessed in the middle metal crossbar.
- Make sure that the wooden slats are not too flexible and the spacing between them is not too wide. The optimal spacing is up to 4cm. A wider spacing does not support the mattress properly, resulting in irreparable damage.
- The ideal thickness of the wooden slats, made from durable wood, ranges from 2,5 cm to 4 cm in order to prevent bending under weight.

THE MATTRESS WARRANTY IS NOT VALID WHEN THE MATTRESS IS PLACED ON IMPROPER BASES THAT MAY CAUSE ANY DAMAGE TO IT.

MATTRESS CARE AND CLEANING INSTRUCTIONS

You cannot use chemical or biological cleaning products, steam cleaners and detergents to clean the mattress. All the above may cause damage to the raw materials of the mattress and result in the development of humidity. In case of an accident, remove the moisture with a paper towel without rubbing and place the mattress near a heating body or dehumidifier (avoid fireplaces, incandescent devices or fire heaters, there is risk of fire).

The mattress warranty is not valid, if the mattress is stained, humid and moldy, therefore, it is necessary to use the appropriate mattress protector.

The only acceptable way to clean your mattress is to apply baking soda on the stain or the surface of the mattress, wait for 3 hours and then vacuum it up.

Caution

- ✗ Do not iron on the mattress. The heat and the steam cause damage to its materials.
- ✗ Do not use electric blanket on memory foam and latex mattresses.
- ✗ Do not jump nor stand on the mattress. This may cause permanent distortion to the springs structure.
- ✗ Do not use steam cleaning methods.
- ✗ Do not use chemical dry cleaning products.
- ✗ Do not bend nor fold the mattress lengthwise or crosswise; there is a serious chance of causing irreparable damage. If you wish to move your mattress, make sure it stays in a vertical position.
- ✗ Do not use the handles to lift the mattress. The handles should only be used to slightly move and rotate the mattress once it is already placed on the base.
- ✗ Do not remove nor tear off the label of the mattress. It is part of the warranty.
- ✗ Do not turn the mattress over if the mattress is one-sided. Single-sided mattresses have different layers on the top side to ensure your comfort. However, you need to occasionally rotate the top and bottom of the mattress to minimize the possibility of dents in its layers from the shape of the body.
- ✗ Try to keep the mattress free of water or other liquids.
- ✗ Do not soak the mattress or foundation using any type of dry cleaning fluid as these can damage both the comfort of the bed and the upholstery materials.
- ✓ When you receive your mattress, give it time to air after removing it from the plastic packaging and the new mattress smell will quickly fade.

- ✓ Carry your mattress flat on its side, this makes it easier to handle and prevents damage.
- ✓ Place your mattress on a suitable solid base.
- ✓ Use a proper bed frame with central support to ensure your warranty remains in effect.
- ✓ Air your mattress uncovered regularly for a few hours.
- ✓ Keep your mattress sanitary by using a mattress protector.
- ✓ Vacuum your mattress to keep it in good condition.

FLIPPING AND ROTATING THE MATTRESS

If you have a two-sided mattress, you should flip it and rotate it every 3 months. This process ensures that most of the sleeping surface is adjusted to your body and your sleeping positions. Each time you flip your mattress, perform a 180° turn, alternating between side-to-side flipping and end-over-end flipping.

If your mattress is one-sided, for proper maintenance it is advisable to rotate it.

All new materials have a specific odor that gradually fades away. Therefore, it is recommended to ventilate and vacuum your mattress in order to remove any potential odor.

If you do not follow these instructions for use and maintenance, the provided warranty ceases to be valid.

MATTRESSES WARRANTY PERIOD COVERAGE TERM

- Your new mattress will be following and adjusting to the natural curves of your body, thus, providing support to your spine while preserving the neutral spine position. By embracing all the curves of your body, it will offer you a pleasant feeling of relief and relaxation.
- You should know that dents are a normal phenomenon in new mattresses and are an indication that the mattress is adapting to the curves of your body. At the points where maximum pressure is exercised (hips, shoulders), it is considered normal for the materials to slightly sink in. A sinking that does not exceed 4cm is perfectly acceptable and is not considered a flaw.
- For a correct measurement, place a hard, straight stick on the surface of the mattress and then measure the gap with a ruler or a measuring tape. The measurement should be taken 6 to 8 hours after the last use.
- It is normal for the first few days of use for your new mattress to be slightly harder than the one you tried in the store. This is because all the materials that make up the structure of your new mattress are new and unused.

HOW TO MEASURE MATTRESS DIMENSIONS

Remove the old mattress from the bed and measure the inner dimensions of the bed (length - width) using a meter stick or a measuring tape.

If the mattress goes into the bed more than three centimeters, we recommend subtracting two centimeters in width and two centimeters in length.

In case your mattress is going to be placed on a base, measure the width and length of the base and order the mattress in exactly the same dimensions as the base.

Even the best mattresses become less comfortable over time. Therefore, we suggest that you change your mattress every 10 years.
